The Coolidge Corner Community Chorus is a group open to singers of all backgrounds. We do not require auditions and foster a cooperative spirit within the group -- experienced members work openly with members without formal training. We rehearse Wednesday evenings during the school year at Edward Devotion School under the direction of noted musician and teacher David Morochnick and accompanied by the beloved Florence ("Flossie") A. Dunn.

We strongly believe in the power of music to help build community. The Chorus performs at community events, nursing homes, and senior housing throughout the year. At our concerts, we have raised money for the All Town Honors Orchestra, the Coolidge Corner Theater Foundation, the Committee to End Elder Homelessness, and the Devo Scholars Program, which subsidizes private music lessons for students otherwise unable to afford them. We were honored to receive the Brookline PAX Award for Outstanding Community Involvement.

Ongoing or annual events:

- Rehearsals: Wednesdays, 7:30 - 9:00 pm, September through May, at the Devotion School (345 Harvard Street)
- Holiday Concert at 100 Centre Street Senior Housing in December
- Spring Concert in May or June
